

ABSTRACT

The liquid crystal display module comprises a bottom cover having a plurality of lamps installed thereon and at least one or more of guide projection formed thereon; and a reflection sheet for reflecting light generated from the lamps and having a guide hole in order to be inserted in the guide projection.